Day 5-6. Paddling down the Upper Delger River

Packrafting day 1 - drop point 2 📍

Day 5

- These days we will raft the Upper Delger-Moron river. During this time of the year, we expect the river to average a fairly good speed because of the snow melt upstream. We'll encounter Class 1-2 rapids and possibly a few Class 3 sets as well. We will plan to meet our drivers each night, but be prepared to be on our own, depending on conditions of the river and the paths through the mountains. There will be opportunities to stop and take short hikes for those interested.

Day 6

- On the afternoon of Day 6 we expect to arrive at the confluence of the Delger and Beltis rivers. Hiking opportunities abound and if the weather cooperates, stunning sunset photography this evening. This is a great place to go for a swim as well.

- Today we'll raft through a stunning set of boulder gardens, which always provide a changing and unique set of challenges, depending on the water level.
- We'll plan to meet our vehicles in a beautiful riverside spot for a well earned dinner and camping under the stars.

Packrafting day 1 - drop point 2 📍

- Final planned day of packrafting on the Delger. The distance we will cover today will depend upon the speed of the river.
 - If river levels are up, we will encounter some amazing Class II to mild Class III rapid sets and technical boulder gardens. By this time in our journey, you'll have enough experience to navigate these and have great fun in the process. Of course, you can always portage around any spots you feel are too difficult. Today the scenery will change a number of times, from forested, to cliffs, to rolling hillsides and from rocky to sandy banks.
 - You'll have earned the hearty dinner we will prepare for you and we'll definitely sleep well, camped out near the riverbank under the stars. We're looking forward to hearing about your favorite moments on the river around the campfire.
 - If the river is running a bit more slowly, we may exit a bit earlier in the day and begin our journey to Lake Khovsgol.
- We'll clean up and pack away all of our river gear before departing and pick a scenic spot for the night in this case.

Its water is so pure that it is said we can drink it ! It's surrounded with many peaks culminating at more than 2000 metres and covered with forests of pines and lush meadows where yaks and horses graze.
- We will spend the afternoon and evening at a very relaxing ger camp, where we can arrange hiking, horseback riding and boating (weather permitting) which really gives a great perspective of just how large this lake is. Go ahead and take a drink if we can get you out to the middle of the lake; the water is fresh and delicious! Having a swim in the cold water is said to add 3 years to your life!
- Evening accommodations will be in gers.
